It can happen to anyone
The children have been great, the parents go on a trip abroad alone, children remain at home and then ...Children wanted to repair the damage and what you see in the picture on the left Parents come home and see the parquet they love so much is with a hole
So start phone calls to friends and acquaintances, online research and everything around the question: How to fix the parquet without replacing it

Step One

After we clear the hole of the previous filling we fill up the hole with a special color. Do not be afraid to top it off all the way then remove what is extra

This is how it looks after filling the hole

Step Three

Paint the outer edge with a special ink color, until the fading due to the fire will disappear, and natural pattern of the parquet returns

Step Four

Fine grind the area with fine sandpaper. In most cases we use the Scotch pad that came in the kit but in this case because of the certain circumstance presented before us we had to sand down the area around the hole so it can be properly lacquered

Steps Six and Seven

After waiting for lacquer to completely dry (for those who doesn't have patience, can use a hair dryer but keep at a long distance from the floor) spread a second layer and wait for it to dry

Then get the following result
